

Program Approval Process

According to Ministry of Higher Education, Science, Research and Innovation (MHESI)(of Thailand), all programs should be revised every 5 academic years. The program committee should collect information from business sector, alumni, and experts in the field to develop the revised program. Minor and major amendment of the program should be reported to the Board of Trustees for approval.

The program administrator should submit the revised program to Office of Higher Education Commission for accreditation within 30 days after the Board of Trustee approve. The program administrator should revised the program in response to comment of Office of Higher Education Committee and resubmit to Office of Higher Education Commission within 30 days for accreditation.
